

To the best of my knowledge through news and other such media, this type of action is not legal. Airing the documentary after the election is fine, but this close to it is not within what i know to be the constraints of the law.